10	Lee Strang	University of Toledo	John W. Stoepler Professor of Law & Values	2003	4/24/2021	Professor Strang was awarded the 2021 Inclusive Excellence Award by his employer, the University of Toledo. Strang won the award because he brings a diversity of viewpoint to the classroom, being one of the only conservative scholars on faculty. This provoked the ire of students, who took issue with sentiments Strang has expressed in past writings. For example, he wrote in a 2003 article that "a corrupt society that does not seek to prevent homosexual activity makes it more difficult for us to properly raise our children."	Homophobia	Condemned in student petition, university changed award policies for the future	https://nbc24.com/news/local/university-of-toledo-law-professor-faces-backlash-for-inclusivity-award
11	Robert Jordan	San Diego State University	Lecturer of Television, Theater, and Film	4/13/2021	4/13/2021	Jordan came under fire for a 50-second clip of a pre-recorded lecture for his Introduction to Cinema class. In the clip, Jordan is discussing racial assumptions students might encounter in films. He said, "I might have an assumption that Black people are just not as intelligent as white people ... Ooh, I can hear already all the people getting riled up, right? I could believe that. You know, that's just the way I was raised and that's just the way my values are. It doesn't mean I'm going to come and lynch you. It doesn't mean I'm going to attack you. It might mean I won't hire you, but it's the way I think."	Racism	Widely condemned by students on social media	https://thedailyaztec.com/105391/news/students-outraged-over-film-professors-racially-insensitive-remarks/
12	Howard Bauchner	Journal of the American Medical Association	Editor in Chief	2/24/2021	3/25/2021	Dr. Bauchner said in a podcast that "structural racism" no longer exists in the United States. 27	J. Mark Ramseyer	Harvard University	Mitsubishi Professor of Japanese Legal Studies	12/2020	2/18/2021	Professor Ramseyer published an article, titled “Contracting for Sex in the Pacific War,” in the International Review of Law and Economics. In it, he claims Korean and other women during WWII willingly prostituted themselves to Japenese soldiers, contradicting the more common narrative that these women were kidnapped and forced into sex slavery.	Support for sex slavery	Petition for article retraction, demand for apology, investigated by journal	https://www.nytimes.com/2021/02/26/world/asia/harvard-professor-comfort-women.html
28	Jay Bergman	Central Connecticut State University	Professor of History	1/27/2021	2/10/2021	Professor Bergman sent letters to every public school superintendent in his home state of Connecticut, warning them against implementing history curricula based on The New York Times' "The 1619 Project." In response, Daniel P. Sullivan, the superintendent of Putnam County schools, sent a letter to Interim President of Connecticut State Colleges and Universities Jane Gates and President of Central Connecticut State University Zuma R. Toro, calling Bergman's letter and other writings "extremely inappropriate" and "extremely problematic." He also wrote that Bergman's letter will help "continue to perpetuate ... racist rhetoric." In response, Presidents Gates and Toro condemned Bergman's letter.
